CEFR LEVELS POSTER: A1 TO C2 ON ONE PAGE

THE SIX LEVELS

A1

BEGINNER

You understand and use everyday expressions and very simple sentences, and can introduce yourself, if people speak slowly.

A2

ELEMENTARY

You get by in simple, familiar situations such as shopping, work and where you live.

B1

INTERMEDIATE

You handle most situations while traveling, talk about experiences and plans, and explain your opinions briefly.

B2

UPPER INTERMEDIATE

You follow the main ideas of complex texts and talk with native speakers with ease on both sides.

C1

ADVANCED

You use the language flexibly for social life, study and work, and write clear, well-structured texts.

C2

PROFICIENT

You understand almost everything with ease and express yourself precisely, even on fine shades of meaning.

GOOD TO REMEMBER

A1 and A2 are the basic user, B1 and B2 the independent user, C1 and C2 the proficient user. Most people are stronger in some skills than others, often reading more than speaking.
